

33

Skewed selection needs rethink

Dack in 1961 the Universities Commission concluded that the selection process of the universities' admissions system is skewed. 57 per cent of those who do not get into university part this is because they are better qualified than those who do.