

Introducing Micro- UCL script

Easy, accessible 90 second videos of Micro Continuing Professional Development (MicroCPD) for busy academics and colleagues that support teaching.

September 2022

Hello

My name is Prof Kathy Armour. I joined UCL in January as Vice-Provost Education and Student Experience. One of my goals is to find new ways to share important information with staff who teach and those who support student learning.

As you already know, it can be difficult for busy staff to prioritise CPD related to teaching, or to select and find the right CPD at the right time. The sheer volume of information on teaching, learning and regulation in higher education can be overwhelming.

So, a MicroCPD takes the form of a 90 second video prepared by a UCL colleague who is engaged